To whom it may concern

Kaleidoscope is an absolute joy to work with. We hired Kaleidoscope to write our English website. In addition, and as part of the website, they summarized reviews that were in Italian, German and Hebrew into English.

As part of the working process, they met with conductor Omer Wellber and interviewed him. When we were presented with the text, we were thrilled with the results – they totally managed to capture the essence of Omer's personality.

They are dedicated, talented, friendly, reliable, creative, fast and totally professional.

I would like to thank Mandi and her talented team for the work done and we look forward to working with them again.

If you are looking for a great copywriting company, just call Mandi.
